Instructions for candidates

- Answer the single writing task. Use only the fresh, unannotated Part A source copies issued in the examination and the supplied answer booklet. Do not bring the advance source copies, personal notes or annotations. Dictionaries, internet access and AI tools are not permitted. Approved assistive technology may be used only under an authorised access arrangement. Plan, write and proofread within 60 minutes. Aim for approximately 500 words, excluding references.
- Write your response in the separate answer booklet and label it Question 1.
- Write clearly in black or blue ink.
- Use both source texts to support your response.
- Write approximately 500 words.

Assessment-specific instructions

Answer Question 1 in the separate answer booklet.

Section Writing task

Question 1 Controlled writing task

You are writing for a college academic-skills newsletter. Using both supplied sources, write an analytical article of approximately 500 words answering this question: To what extent should universities teach students how to evaluate and use open educational resources? Compare the review evidence with the fictional college discussion, assess opportunities and limitations, and reach a supported judgement. Distinguish empirical findings from the hypothetical example. Use your own words, Harvard-style in-text citations and a short reference list.

[60 marks]

Write your response in the separate answer booklet. Label it with the question number shown above.
