Controlled timeline

Release	Enter the centre dates in the candidate brief before issue. Release the entire candidate pack and Excel dataset 21 days before the presentation.
Submission	Receive one electronic group analysis pack and cover sheet 7 days before the presentation. Record the submission date and give both markers access for question preparation.
Question preparation	Give the examiner access to the submitted pack; schedule the presentation at least 7 days after submission.
Presentation	Assess the whole group for 5–10 minutes, including the prepared presentation and assessor questions. Record the event and retain the recording as centre-held evidence.

Group and assessment controls

- Form groups of 3–5. The 5–10-minute duration applies to the whole group, including questions, not per candidate. Manage the prepared presentation and questions within that event.
- Mark every candidate individually. Ask at least one question directly to each candidate. Questions may address any part of the group analysis.

- Do not award a separate mark for the electronic group submission.
- Use two markers and record Marker 1, Marker 2 and the agreed AO1 and AO2/AO3 scores in the controlled mark record workbook.
- Use the supplied dataset only; centres must not substitute or alter it.
- Apply the Level 2 AI-planning rules in the candidate brief and record academic-integrity concerns through the normal process.

Pack and event checks

Before candidate issue, check that the brief, IQM3003_2026_Sample_Assessment_2_Dataset.xlsx, data dictionary, cover sheet and candidate marking criteria all identify the same assessment set. Confirm groups of 3–5, the 5–10-minute whole-group event including questions, accessible presentation arrangements, entered dates, secure submission and recording arrangements. Keep the analytical guide, administration instructions, marking framework and mark record workbook in the staff pack. After submission, allocate two markers, prepare questions for every candidate and check that both markers can identify individual contributions. Retain the recording, submissions, completed individual marking records and moderation decisions under centre retention procedures.
